

Keep up your work on mega-corporate media consolidation. I believe very little of what I read/hear/see in the giant media-conglomerate sources now, and your allowing even more corporate control by just a few will cause more and more people to turn off big-business news and find the truth from alternate sources with no overriding financial interests in controlling the information we get. So, best of luck in your work as hand-maidens to the corporate media cartel.